other splendid demonstration by Canton people in honor of Major McKinley. This one was made by the boys attending the public schools in the city. They called in a body to pay their respects to the Major, and in all of their arrangements they followed the ways of older They had their own mounted escort to take the place of the Canton troop, consisting of a score of boys mounted on ponies. This troop had its orderly, who rode to the house in advance of the parade and delivered the cards of the speakers.

The speakers and the committee rode behind the escort in diminutive carriages drawn by ponies. The speakers were received on the stand as have been the party leaders who have presented their constituents, and they spoke much the same as did their predecessors.

There were over 2,000 of the boys in line, each earrying a flag. The girls, who had not been invited to march and the parents and citizens in general, to the number of many thousands gathered about the house to witness the affair. Haskell Koons, 13 years old, was President of the day, and introduced Robert Jeanners, 14 years old, to speak for the intermediate and grammar schools. Master Jeannero said:

Major McKinley, it has been made my delightful duty to speak for and to present to you the boys of the grammar and elementary department of the public schools of our good city. Delegations have come from near and far to see and hear you, and you have spoken to them words of wisdom and courage. We boys, who hope some of these days to be men, thought that out of that same greate generous heart there might also come words of advice, of wisdom, and of inspiration, even for us.

We are here, sir, because we desire to revere and honor as best we may the man who for many, many years has been the ablest leader of able men, and who to-day stands for the grandest and noblest principles of one of the greatest parties of the nation. We are here, sir, because we recognize in you a man worthy in every way to be our model, and to assure you that your noble life will enter largely into our characters as we come nearer to the goal of citizenship. We are here that we may in some way catch that earnestness, that devotion, that spirit of doing, that has helped so much to bring you to your present great fame. We are here that we may gather strength and resolution and courage from the words which you may have for us. We are here, sir, and we all want you to talk to us." Another address was made by William Jahn, on behalf of the older boys in the high school. The lads seemed to catch the sentiments of Major McKinley's response as readily as older

Major McKinley was much affected by the demonstration, and he spoke with much feeling. The scene about the house while the crowd was massing was inspiring. Each school was headed by a drum corps, and each had a banner or some sort of a streamer showing its identity. One carried a placard inscribed, "Would-be McKinley voters of the West North Street School," and each had a distinctive yell, which was given as the stand was approached. Major McKinler did not bow and wave his silk hat as usual, but and not now and wave his silk nat as usual, but waved his handkerchief instead, after the style of the Chautauquan salute. The girls and the elder people did the same and the boys responded by waving the flags they carried. Cheer after cheer was given for each division as it passed, and the enthusiasm reached such a pitch that it could not be subdued for some time to allow the speaking.

passed, and the enthusiasm reached such a bitch that it could not be subdued for some time to allow the speaking.

This demonstration followed that of the college students. Of these there were some 150 or more, coming from over thirty colleges, not in large delegations, but in twos and threes, rather in the capacity of a committee than otherwise. It was only when the college yells were given in sign of approval of some sentiment, expressed that the crowd seamed, reseased of huge proportions. The introductory addresses for the students were made by Edward J. Henning of Chicago and William Burns Wolffe of Harvard.

About 100 colored men came from Cleveland this afternoon as the "original McKinley club," and were introduced to Major McKinley by J. E. Benson. This evening after supper a party of patentees and inventors, with patent attorneys of Canton, in which were some of the city's leading manufacturers, called and were introduced by Attorney F. W. Bond.

Dr. Chauncey M. Depew was here to-day. He came to pay his respects to Major McKinley, and while here was drafted for speech making. He spoke first to the colored people and later to the schoolboys, which was forming when he drove with Major McKinley to the schoolboys, which was forming when he drove with Major McKinley to the schoolboys, which was forming when he drove with Major McKinley to the school boys.

the college boys, and he reviewed the parace of the schoolboys, which was forming when he drove with Major McKinley to the station. The boys honored him with a salute of the flags and a hearty round of cheers. The crowd had already assembled about the house when he left, and he had witnessed the doings of the two delegations of visitors.

"Have you been having such scenes as this every day?" he asked.

On being informed that this was scarcely a representative day, most of them being marked by larger and more numerous delegations, Dr. Depew said: v said: is wonderful. Nothing like it has ever experienced before. I could not realize

Depew said:

"It is wonderful. Nothing like it has ever been experienced before. I could not realize what the nature of the campaign was until I saw part of it for myself."

Dr. Depew had a little experience in the handebaking receptions which follow the speechmaking. He stood at the side of Major McKinley during one of them and greated the crowd after him. Dr. Depew was in the city about three hours and left this evening for Cleveland, where he appeared for brief takes at several meetings. He goes to Cincinnati to-morrow and will speak from the platform of his private car at several towns on the way. He has no doubt about the result of the election and expects New York not only to cast the largest McKinley plurality, but also the largest plurality in proportion to the total, vote. He was accompanied by Coi. Herrick of Cleveland and George W. Smalley of the London Times.

Among the other individual callers at the McKinley home to-day were Judge W. H. Warnock of Urbana, O.; the Hon, F. J. McColloch, President of the State Board of Public Works of Heliefontaine; Charles L. Perkins, State Engineer; William Hehn of Zanesville, John O'Connor of Dayton, and William Hitenbiddle of Mansfield, with several others connected with the management of the Ohio State Canal. These men have been over a great part of the State. None of them counts on less than 100,000 plurality for McKinley in Ohio.

In his speech to the celored men to-day Dr. Depew said:

In his speech to the celored men to-day Dr. Depow said:

"I came here to pay my respects to Gov. McKinley and not to make a speech. My speechmaking does not begin in Ohio until to-morrow. I feel that I ought not to make any -peeches in Ohio anyway, and the reason is that I want to have the State of New York give a larger majority in proportion to its population than any State in the Union. And if, by any chance, my coming here should lead to Ohio beating us. I don't know whether I could live in New York again or not. Anyway, I can move to Ohio. [Laughter and cheers.]

know whether I could live in New York again or not. Anyway, I can move to Ohio. [Laughter and cheers.]

"It afforts me' great pleasure on arriving here at this spot, which will be one of the historic places of the country for all the future of our history, to find the first delegation of those thousands of delegations of which we read of in New York should be a delegation of colored mee. And I say that for this reason:

"It has pleased the Popocratic party, or rather the Popocratic leaders, to place this campaign upon a plane which it never has been put before in this country. They are trying to array one class against another class—as if there were two classes. They are trying to array one class against another class—as if there were two classes in this country, or permanent classes. They are trying to array the employed against their employers, and to array the man who has not prospered against the man who has not prospered against the man who has prospered a little more than he, as if it were the spirit of American liberty that a man should not rise from one condition to a better one, where all are equal before the law.

"If any one has a right to complain and the right to be an Anarchist or a Socialist it is the colored man. It is only one generation since he came from slavery to be a free man, but no one ever saw a negro Socialist or a negro Anarchist. They accept American citizenship as it came from the pen of the great liberator and greatest American citizen that all men are created equal with one another and with inalienable rights; that no man is better than another before the law, but are all equal; the rest is American opportunity under American liberty. So it is that the colored men of this country, this generation, which has gone to our schools and received American education, and is enjoy-ring American opportunity, are all for McKluley prosperity, and libe

NOW THE POPULISTS PROPREST. Chairman Washburn Figures Out Bryan's Election in a Homp.

Chicago, Oct. 30 .- The following final statement from the Populist side as to election day probabilities and expectations throughout the country was given out to-night by Chairman Washburn of the Chicago headquarters. It I'In view of the fact that the people are anxlous to know what combinations of States are likely to win, I have grouped together several, any group of which is liable to be the correct one on election day. It is conceded that the Democratic gold defection will be offset by the silver Republicans, which leaves the normal onditions of the two parties the same. Then add to the Democratic vote the two millions of Populist votes and it is apparent that Bryan must win.

"Fortunately the Populist vote is largest in States where it is most needed, and, while Bryan cannot win without it, he is sure to win with it, and will get the full Populist vote. In analyzing the vote of the country I have grouped as Bryan States the agricultural and mining States, where the agricultural and mining States, where the gold Democratic defection and floating vote is smallest and where the success of the ticket depends on the silver question through schoolhouse and alliance meetings and who would feel insulted if offered a price for their vote or were coerced in any manner.

"Therefore it is conceded that the thirty-one States west of the Mississippi and south of the Chin rivers, representing 242 electoral votes, Is more than needed, are the States which Bryan is most likely to carry, and the States which are compratively sure for McKinley are the New England States, together with New Jersey, and Pennsylvania, representing 31 electoral votes. The doubtful States are the middle Western, including Illinois, Indiana, Michigan, Ohio, and Wisconsin, together with New York, making 124 electoral votes.

"It is apparent to any political student that the middle Western, including lilinois, Indiana, Michigan, Ohio, and Wisconsin, together with New York, making 124 electoral votes.

"It is apparent to any political student that while Bryan can be elected by half a dozen different combinations, on the other hand McKinley must carry every Eastern State together with every one of the central Western dombtful States in order to win. Therefore he has one chance where Bryan has six. While Bryan cannot win without the doubtful States, his chances for carrying them are better than McKinley's, and should be get them all it would prove to be a veritable landslide.

"Of the thirty-one Bryan States the most doubtful are towa, Kentucky, Belaware, and Maryland. We can lose lowa and Delaware, or Kentucky and Delaware, or Maryland and Delaware and still win, without carrying a doubtful State in the Middle West. We can give McKinley all the Eastern and middle Western or doubtful States, together with lowa or Kentucky or Maryland and Delaware, and then win.

"Of the doubtful States Ohio is the most likely to furnish the greatest surprise. The silver Republican vote will be chormous. Our most conservative poils and reports of Indiana, Illinois, and Michigan give these three States to Bryan, Now, concede the other three doubtful States, New York, Ohio and Wisconsin, to McKinley, and we can afford to lose Kentucky. Wyoning, Maryland, Delaware, North Dakota, Oregon, West Virginia, Minnesota, and lowa, and still win. Again, we can carry Indiana and Michigan, which are sure for Bryan, and lose Illinois, Ohio, New York, and Wisconsin, and, in addition to all this, give them Kentucky, Maryland, Delaware. North Dakota, West Virginia, and lowa, and all the Eastern States, and we still win. There are several other combinations which include States naturally for Bryan, and which, in a like manner, would enable him to win.

"In Illinois Bryan will carry the State outside Chicae of the doubtful."

win. In Illinois Bryan will cary the State outside

"In Illinois Bryan will cary the State outside Chicago by between 30,000 and 40,000 majority. The uncertainty is Chicago, with its 100,000 unplaced votes. If Bryan carries this city he will carry the State, and no combination can beat him in the rest of the States.

"In former years the floating vote could be bought because there was only one or two pivotal States. While it is possible to buy the floating vote of a single State, it is not possible to buy up a whole nation. Then, arain, in former years the floating vote was indifferent to the results. This year every man has strong convictions and will accretily vote them in the booth, whether be takes any money or not. Possession is nine points of the law. Bryan has already enough States to win, with more than an equal chance in the doubtful States, and only needs to hold his own. He will be our next President."

While I am a member of the Presbyterian Church, I have always, believed that there should be no religious test applied in the holding of public office, and I have not allowed religious differences to affect my conduct in the discharge of the duties of public office. I am a believer in the public school system. I attended public schools myself, and my children are now attending public school. While I recognize the right of parents to send their children to private sancols and colleges, if they so desire, I believe that, the free public school must remain a part of our system of government in order that means of sducation shall be within the reach of everychild in the land. The Democratic members of Congress voted against a proposed amendment to the Constitution of New Mexico which compelled the teaching of the English language in such schools, but because the Pemocrats were opposed to public schools or the teaching of the English language in such schools, but because they fill not deem it necessary or wise to require a piedge from the people of New Mexico which can the control of the english language in such schools, but because they fill not deem it necessary or wise to require a piedge from the people of New Mexico which can demonstrate the fill not deem it necessary or wise to require a piedge from the people of New Mexico which had not been required of the people of other Territories seeking admission."

GAGGED AND TIED TWO WOMEN. Masked Men Rob Two Maiden Women More Than 60 Years Old.

WILLIAMSPORT, Pa., Oct. 30.-Two women were assaulted by thieves at Crandell Hill last night. The victims were Misses Lucinda and Mary Gorham, more than sixty years old, living by themselves. At about 7 o'clock two masked men broke down a door and demanded money. They refused and the desperadoes attacked them, and after a furious struggle tied them to chairs. Then pointing revolvers at the fright-ened women again demanded their money, but with no success.

The victims were bound tighter and gagged, while the ruffians searched high and low over the house for money. The sum of $115 in gold was found hidden under the carpet in Miss Lucinda's bedroom, and a smaller amount was taken from a teapor in the cupboard. The women were not discovered until this morning. They were crazed from fright and rough treatment.

DID MRS. MEYER BIND HERSELF? Her Hashand Dentes Her Story of the Mobberr of 896.

Mrs. Annie Meyer of 222 Bergen street, New ark, who was found bound and gagged in her room on Thursday afternoon and who said that she had been robbed by two strangers, was she had been robbed by two strangers, was suffering from nervous shock yesterday. She said that the thieves had taken $int, but her husband told the declectives that he did not know that she had so much money. He said also that although everything in the rooms had been ransacked he found a purse in plain sight containing $4.60. He evidently doubts his wife's story and so do the police, for that matter. The detectives said that while the woman's feet were lightly bound the towel around her head and the bandage holding her wrists were quite loose.

BRYANISM BREEDS RIOT ATTEMPTS TO BREAK UP SOUND. MONEY MEETINGS IN CHICAGO.

Mud and Vile Enithets Burled at Postmas ter Hening State Normal School in Kanzas Defaced with Bryan Emblems-Free Speech Suppressed in Missouri. CHICAGO, Oct. 30.-The lawless and outageous acts of the Popocrats in disturbing Republican meetings and in precipitating riots ontinue, and probably will not cease until after Monday night. Great caution is exercised by sound-money men of both parties when they hold rallies, and much of the threatened disorder is thus checked. It was only the presence of Lieut. Bonfield and a score of policemen from the Deering street police station that kept a crowd of free sliver men from attacking the sound money Demogratic meeting held last night at Freiheit Turner Hall, 3421 Halstead street. A crowd of toughs gathered in front of the hall and agreed to make a rush into the hall and drive the speakers and audience out. One of the number made his way into the hall as an advance guard, but found Lieut, Bonfield and his men scattered in different parts of the room. This caused the toughs to disperse. Before going they in-structed a crowd of boys to attack the band, which was playing in the street in front of the hall. The boys threw large wads of paper in the horns, and this caused the musicians to ask the police to protect them. S. H. Anschell called the audience to order and introduced the Chairman of the meeting. John Krebs, candidate for Congress in the Third district. Chairman Krebs made a brief address and then introduced Postmaster Hesing, the principal speaker of the evening. In his speech Mr. Hesing told the audience what he had found to be the general verdict of the people of Michigan and Indiana, which is for the gold standard. He then made an argument on the money question. Edward F. Cullerton followed with an eloquent address.

While Postmaster Hesing was leaving the hall in the company of E. F. Cullerton, J. Krebs, and S. H. Anschell, a jeering crowd of free silverites followed them down Haisted street, uttering curses and vile epithets. The police remained passive and the crowd, embeldened. surged threateningly around the Postmaster and his friends, who by this time had reached and entered their carriage. At this instant one of the more victous of the rioters picked up a handful of mud and threw it at the moving carriage. It smashed the carriage window and caught Mr. Hesing in the chect, spattering his garments. Further than that Mr. Hesing was unharmed. The coach was rapidly driven away. Some unknown miscreaut last night fired a pistol shot at a lithograph of McKinley and Hobart in the window of C. B. Rogers & Co.'s working machinery plant, 47 South Canal street. The ball shattered a plate glass window worth $125 and tore a hole through the lithograph. The shot was fired at close range. The watchman heard the report but did not discover the damage until later.

B. F. Edwars, manager of the concern, thinks the deed was the result of personal spite against him, as he has been active in politics during the campaign.

Councilman George Newman of the new suburb of Hammond, Ind., and Larry Doyle, Secretary of Hicks Lodge, Amaigamated Association of iron and Steel Workers, became involved in a fight during a political discussion last night in that village.

Doyle denounced McKinley and Hanna in severe terms, and finally struck the Councilman in the face, drawing blood. Nowman retaliated, and a rough and tumble fight followed. New-and a rough and tumble fight followed. Newman at last kicked Doyle in the stomach and the fracas was over. When Doyle regained consciousness he apologized.

Reports from various Western points show that it is not Unicago silverites alone that are determined to cause trouble. A gang of free-silver rowdles made an ineffectual attempt to break up a Republican raily last night at the Town Hall in Forsyland Section 1811. Assistant State's Attorney, and W. P. Calhoun, editor of the Decatur Republican and extmember of the Republican State Central Committee for this district. H. C. Mowry, a gold-standard Democrat, presided.

I have also learned that I have been accused of being a member of a society which I think is known as the Junior Order of American Mechanics. At Centralia, that historic town near Mexico, Mo., where "lish" Anderson killed 240 of Col. Johnson's men during the late war, the soundmoney speakers on the special train to-day saw their literature burned before their eyes by the sliver Democrats. On the train was the Rev. Dr. John Snyder of St. Louis and Attorney Percy Noland. When their train arrived it was met by a vast crowd, but the sliver men kept up such a disturbance that the sneakers could not be heard for some time. The town marshal tried to subdurbance that the sheakers could not be heard for some time. The town marshal tried to subdue them, but his efforts were of little effect. They succeeded in entirely suppressing Mr. Noland, but the minister was too much for them. He stayed with them, declared that he was a Democrat, but begged his hearers to put patriotism above party and vote for Major McKinley. At Montgomery City the sliver men refused to let the sylitors speak or distribute their sound-money people distributed literature, ran down to Columbia, and returned to Centralia within a few hours.

This gave those who were so disposed ample time to get the literature together ready for the bondire. While the train stood at the station for the speakers to talk the fire progressed and free speech was suppressed. This part of the State is a bemocratic stronghold.

Negroes Fight at a Political Gathering Police Protect a Sound-money Meeting Nonrolk, Va., Oct. 30,-A riot among 3,000 negroes at a political meeting in Scott street to-night resulted in three policemen being nearly killed. The Bowden faction of the Republican party were holding a meeting, which was broken up by the Lamb faction and resulted in a riot. The police charged the mob, who fought like wild animals.

Policeman Woods's pistol and club were taken away and he was nearly kicked to death, and Policemen West and Cavanaugh nearly met the same fate. The reserves were called out and quelled the riot. Several negroes are under arrest.

Serious trouble, resulting from an attempt of the silver forces to interfere with a soundmoney speech, was only averted to-night by the presence of a squad of police. H. M. DETAINED ARMENIANS RELEASED. Bonds in $100 Each Given for $46 of Them at Ellis feland,

The Armenian refugees from the steamships Obdam and California, who have been detained for some time at Ellia Island, were released yesterday afternoon, chiefly through the efforts of the Salvation Army and of the two Armenian relief associations.

During the past few days communications have passed between the representatives of the societies and Commissioner Sener and Secretary of the Treasury John G. Carlisle, with the result that an arrangement was reached by which the refugees were released.

The news that the refugees would not be sent back to the land of the Sultan was brought to Eilis Island in the morning by John E. Milholland, who, in the name of several wealthy New Yorkers, deposited bonds of the American Security Company in the amount of $24,600. He had bonds for $100,000, but as the Treasury Department had notified Dr. Sener that it would accept $100, instead of $500, bonds in the case of each person, only $24,000 was needed.

No time was lost after the bonds were given in getting the 248 refugees away from the island. The first to leave were seventy men, who were dispatched under the charge of Miss Fessenden, President of the Woman's Christian Temperance Association of Massachusetts, by the Fall River Line to Boston, from which they will be scattered over several of the New England States. Col. Holland and several other Salvation Army officers escorted the party to the Fall River pler.

The larger party, which included women and children and numbered 170, left at 5 o'clock and were personally escorted by Mrs. Booth-Tucker. The Salvation Army band met the last party of Armenians at the Barge Office and played patriotic airs while the refugees cheered and cried and clapped their hands and prayed. On arrival at the Salvation Army headquarters, in West Fourteenth street, a substantial meal was given the refugees. Sleeping quarters were provided for them last night, and to-day an attempt will be made to provide homes for all. Among the refugees is a Turkish grocer of Kharpout who helped them to escape, and had IS DENMARK RUSSIA'S ALLT?

LONDON, Oct. 30 .- A despatch to the Pall Mall Gazette from Copenhagen says that an understanding was established between Russia and Denmark during the Premiership of M. In return Russia guarantees the integrity of Denmark with the restoration of Danish Schleswig to the kingdom. CONSTANTINOPLE, Oct. 30. - The city was thrown into a state of excitement bordering upon panic on Wednesday evening by hearing the sound of heavy cannonading, which, it was learned later, was merely the gun practice of the French guardship Leger. The Porte on that evening addressed a note to the French Embassy, asking that the guardship be taken to some more distant point for gun practice, to which the French Ambassador repited, expressing regret that the inhabitants of the city should have been disturbed; the people, he said, should become accustomed to the sound of firing.

DISGRACEFUL ACTS OF POPOCRATS IN A JERSEY CITY CHURCH.

Didn't Dare Interrupt Mayor Wasser, but They Rowled Down All the Other Speak-ers, and Finally Broke Up a Republican Meeting They Had Bren Asked to Attend, There was a disgraceful row in St. Anthony's Polish Church, in Jersey City, on Thursday night, at a political meeting there. A number of young men, members of the church, had organized a McKinley and Hobart Club, and they obtained permission from the pastor, the Rev. B. Kisiatkowski, to hold a meeting in the church building. Mayor Wanser, Lawyer Wil-liam M. Klink, and William H. Speer, and other Republican spellbinders were invited to speak.

Father Kisiatkowski thought it would be a ood idea to hear both sides of the question, and he invited the Popocratic Club in the parish to attend the meeting. He told Police Captain Kelly about this, and the Captain advised him to withdraw the invitation or there would certainly be trouble. The priest said he thought not, that he would take care of that, and the invitation was not withdrawn.

Just after the meeting was opened by Frank Zienkuski, President of the Republican Club, the Polish Democratic Club marched in carrying a banner on which was inscribed "Polish Democratic Party," and some transparencies One of the transparencies had on it, "Down with the money kings and trusts."

President Zienkuski rapped for order and attempted to introduce Lawyer Klink as the first speaker. The Popocrats set up a howl and began to cheer for Bryan. An entire section of policemen from the Seventh street station were in the church under Sergeant Quinn, and they made an effort to suppress the noise, but it was some time before quiet was restored. When Mr. Klink attempted to speak the Bryan men began to how again and shout for Bryan. They howled and hissed alternately, and a demand was made for a Polish speaker. Mr. Klink gave way to John T. Jenkerwicz. He started in to make a Republican speech, but was soon howled down.

Father Kislatkowski went down among the people and succeeded in persuading them to keep quiet for a few minutes. Mr. Klink was introduced agrin and began to speak. Then the hissing and howling were resumed.

At this juncture Mayor Wunser entered the church. On reaching the platform he threw off his coat, and steepping to the front, said:

"I heard hisses and groams when I entered this church. Only snakes and green hiss. I have been invited to come here and speak and I propose to speak. I don't care to talk to hoodlums. I see there are some here, and if they don't care to hear me now is the time to get out. I do not propose to be interrupted, liesides being a candidate for Surrogate. I am the Mayor of this city, and I will have any man arrested who attempts to break up this meeting if it takes the entire Police Department. Any one who desires to leave may do so now."

The Mayor baused for a minute of two, but nobody moved, nor was there any hissing or howling. When he got through speaking he went away, and then pandemonium broke loose again. The managers of the meeting finally decided to adjourn it, but the Bryanites persisted in remaining and did not leave until they were driven out by the police.

Mr. Brown's attorney sought to bring out an admission from Mr. Hilton that the silver was given to Mrs. Hilton as a wedding pressent, Mr. Hilton said most emphatically that it was presented to him personally.
"Would you produge the silver in court subject to the order of whomseever the Court should decide was entitled to it?" Magistrate Wentworth asked Brown.
When Brown had said he would, Migistrate Wentworth said:
"I cannot see that there is anything to show that this man is endeavoring to convert this that this man is endeavoying to convert this property to his own use; he is merely holding it for the owner. Palaters at War with Varaishers.

According to the report of John Shipman. Recording Secretary of the German Painters' Union, the trouble is not over yet at the St. and building, Broadway and Ann street, where a strike was threatened because painters were doing the work of varnishers. It was agreed two days ago that the painters were to be laid off pending an investigation.

Shipman now says that the painters have not been laid off, and also that "it would be a shame to lay them off, as varnishers work for less pay than painters." The German painters and the New York Painters Union are not represented in the Board of Walking Delegates. The latter body will investigate Shipman's statement on Monday.

MUITERED AT BISHOP WIGGER. Refusal to Confirm Italian Children Angers Their Parents.

The Right Rev. Bisnop Wigger of the diocese of Newark paid a pastoral visit on Thursday night to the Church of the Holy Rosarv at Sixth and Brunswick streets, Jersey City. The congregation is composed of Italians. It was the first time the Bishop had visited the church in five years, and he had an experience which he will not soon forget. About three years ago the rector of the church became in volved in some financial difficulties and was suspended by Bishop Wigger. Since then the church has had several different rectors, and about three weeks ago, Father George Elssa church has had several different rectors, and about three weeks ago, Father George Eissa was appointed rector.

It was announced at all the masses last Sunlay and the Sunday previous that Bishop Wigger would administer the sacrament of confirmation. A confirmation class of about 100 boys and girls had been under instructions. The class was present and ready for confirmation on Thursday night.

Bishop Wigger was accompanied by the Rev. Thomas A. Wallare, Chancellor of the diocese. After vespers he said he has decided not to administer confirmation because the children had not been properly instructed in their catechism. He said he would come again in the course of a month or two and give confirmation to the boys and girls.

This ant.oun.ement was followed by mutterings of discontent from members of the course action. The mutterings swelled into loui talk and the Bishop was obliged to stop. Father Eissa spoke to the people in Italian, and directed them to keep quiet, but they paid no attention to him. They continued to talk and gesticulate, and the services were brought to an abrupt end.

Father Eissa escorted the Bisnop and Father Wallace to his residence adjoining the church. Then an assault began on the doorbell. In twos and three the Italians walked up the stop, pulled the bell, and when the door was opened demanded to know when the children would be confirmed. Father Eissa twrned them away as best he could, Most of them had scowling faces, and it is said that some of them the crowd away. Bishop Wigger and Father Wallace left the rectory about 9 o'clock and went to Seton Hail College. South Oranze.

Father Eissa said last night that no attempt was made to mob the Bishop. The people, he said, were disappointed because the Bishop refused to confirm their children, but they did not intend to use any volence toward him. He had informed the Bishop that the children were not rufficiently instructed, and had told him that he avould have them pre, ared to receive the sacrament in the course of a few months.

The officer in charge at Castle Williams, on Governor's Island, apparently did not discove the Cristoforo Colombo's character until sh had passed the fort, for she was well up toward the Battery before he began to fire twenty-one guns. The Italian war vessel did not respond. She anchored off West Thirty-fourth street.

THE PLUMBER'S NIGHT BELL

All-Night Plumbing Shops May Soon B. Made Necessary by the tity's Growth. In the window of an up-town plumber's es tablishment is displayed a sign giving the house address of the man on duty at night. At another plumber's establishment in the same part of the town there is a regular night bell, with the usual sign indicating its location. These things have come about naturally enough through the very widespread and general intro duction of pipes for water and steam. There are water pipes nowadays in even the chearest of dwellings, and steam pipes in many thou-of dwellings, and steam pipes in many thousands of dwelling places. The total number of such pipes in use is enormous, and among so many there are, of course, more or less pipes getting out of order by night as well as by day, Hence the notice in the plumber's window, giving the house address of the man on duty at night, and the plumber's night bell.

With the continued growth of the city and the constantly increasing density of its population the members of drug stores actually open all night has steadily increased, and the familiar night bell of the drug store has proportionately disappeared. With the city's further growth no doubt the plumber's night bell will disappeared. With the city's further growth no doubt the plumber's night bell will disappear likewise; and the blumber's will be added to the number of establishments that, in a great city, are always open.
